

GENERAL STAFF

These are the men who turn the military wheel in the right direction at the right time—the men who implement the commanding general's decisions, directives and policies.

It takes many fingers to pull the triggers that win the war or keep the peace. Who? Where? Why? When? How much? Five simple questions with five complicated answers. There is no margin for error when human lives weigh in the balance.

These are the hands that guide the war horse. They are capable hands.
